PENITENTIARY FOR THIS MILLIONAIRE

Edward Butler, St. Louis Political Leader, Found Guilty of Bribing City Councilmen.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 14.—Edward Butler, the millionaire politician of St. Louis, was found guilty here to-day of bribery in connection with the recent municipal scandals in that city.

Col. Butler and his wife, his two sons, Congressman James J., and Edward J., and their wives, were in the courtroom when the verdict was received. Judge Hockaday read the verdict, as follows: "We, the jury, find the defendant, Edward Butler, guilty as charged, and assess his punishment at imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term of three years."

All eyes were turned toward Butler. A faint glance came to his face, then his features subsided into the expression of half disgust which he wore listening to the testimony and arguments.

Three years is the penalty.

Butler had been for many years the acknowledged leader of the Democratic machine in St. Louis. He began life as a householder, and by degrees drifted into politics. In time he gained control of the old Nineteenth Ward in St. Louis and soon after extended his influence to what were known as the "rough" districts. His power grew rapidly and he was enabled to control city conventions.

During his entire career Butler never held office, but through his handling of the City Council he secured valuable contracts from which he amassed millions. He became one of the richest men in the Missouri metropolis.

When the revelations were made a short time ago concerning the corruption in the municipal government Butler, or others, was indicted for bribery in the passage of street railroad franchises. He and his friends at first sought to stop the proceedings through political influence, but the District Attorney refused to desist in the prosecution which he had begun and some of the bootlegers followed.

Butler engaged the best legal talent in the State and took a change of venue to this place, alleging that he could not get justice in St. Louis.

The trial had been in progress for nearly two weeks when the verdict was reached.

Butler will probably be sentenced to-morrow, but he will appeal to the Supreme Court, and it is likely that he will fight the case to the bitter end, as he is a man of great determination.

"WAIT," SAYS CLEVELAND.

Former President Says It Is Too Early to Talk Politics. (Special to The Evening World.)

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 14.—Former President Cleveland, who arrived here to-day, was asked what he thought of the chances for Democratic success in 1904. He said he could make no prediction at this time and he could not talk on what the next Democratic National convention might do.

When urged to say if he thought the next Democratic nominee would be from New York he replied: "What's the use of talking about that so far ahead?"
